When Darrell announced his plan to move to Santa Fe, his proposal is met with mixed reactions. Mallory was ready to pack up and move immediately. However their two children, Gemma and Preston, let it be known they were very much against the move. In episode two, Darrell and his family find themselves enjoying their new life in New Mexico.

The two feisty teenagers are learning to enjoy some of the things their new life entails, and Darrell has begun the rancher life he dreamed of. Episode Three brings new adventure and surprises. If you haven't already been hooked by the bug, you soon will. Lots of new and fun things are about to happen, so don't be left out.
