“He has no concept of the danger he’s in.” Rebecca Williams is about to learn this firsthand. She and her brother, Scott, are going to L.

A. to the hottest concert in the country. What could be better than that? Rebecca knows she should be excited but since she read Z’s e-mail all she feels is apprehension. They’ve been asked to help the drummer for The Scream, the nation’s top rock band.

Rebecca has faced danger before—so why does this assignment have her so on edge?
