-Life, a small word, but holds so much within itself! It shows us extremities! It has pain and happiness; love and solitude; togetherness and isolation. From an old lady who begs on street for food, the unfortunate Uttarakhand incident, innocent girls getting raped, a soldier dying for the country in war and how is family is affected...the book has emotions manifold. And love...a word that can complete you, or can leave you incomplete for the rest of your life. Love takes you through different emotions too. It has the ability to make you strong and weak at the same time. When you introspect life, and are unable to decide if it is a beautiful journey or voyage through hide tides...

this book compliments such mixed emotions. Read and feel connected!
