A friend's life is in jeopardy. She has overheard an incriminating conversation between her boss, the mayor, and a Las Vegas "businessman." A gambling casino and hotel are in the works for Durango. If what she heard gets out, it could destroy their plans. It's decided that she is a problem and must be eliminated. Jack and Rudy help her escape to a place they know very well, the mountainous wilderness area north of town. The enforcers are out of their element and Jack and Rudy have the upper hand, or so they think.
