As an Assassin trained by the human government to hunt vampires, Stella knows a thing or two about killing. She's an expert huntress, follows orders and obeys her commander without fault. That is until she sees her newest target and finds herself enthralled, unable to complete her mission to capture the mysterious vampire named Garrett. Betraying all that she has ever known, Stella must accept Garrett's help to find the buried secrets of her past while at the same time exploring the unexplainable physical magnetism that she and Garrett share.
