ACTS OF GOD WHILE ON VACATION begins with a death threat received by a philandering general manager of a lavish Hawaii resort, jumps to an anthropologist researching headhunters in the jungles of Borneo, then to a demonic, scandal-mongering paparazzo in New York, and on to a gorgeous, party-loving English aristocrat in London. Alternately desperate and hilarious adventures draw them all to Waikiki, where their arrival coincides with an international conference on shamanism and a catastrophic, force-five hurricane. "A rollicking page-turner ...

This is Hawaii's best fiction book of 2011." - HONOLULU STAR-ADVERTISER "A shamanically-skewed romp of brilliant insight and slapstick comedy" - HAWAII PUBLIC RADIO "As entertaining as it is enlightening" - PUBLISHERS WEEKLY "Laugh-out-loud funny, while also ringing true" - HONOLULU WEEKLY "It's a comic novel with serious edges. Even more remarkable: It's one of the few fictions set in Hawaii that gets all the details right." - HONOLULU MAGAZINE
